Kia has designed and manufactured a car that can break into US market because of its solid built and safety. Fuel consumption improved a lot compared to the previous models. Generous cabin space and practicability for everyday use. It has just enough power to cruise comfortably, just spacious enough for a small family to It has just enough power to cruise comfortably, just spacious enough for a small family to fit in, abundance of features available, a very good build quality, and you get all of this in just under RM100K. Through my experiences driving this car, it never had a major breakdown, only a few electronics glitches happened and it all solved at the service centre. However, its not a perfect car. The imperfection you noticed is about the handling. Its steering is vague, not much feel to it though with the 3 steering modes available. The automatic transmission is quite responsive but not as good as the Altis or Mazda 3. But it glides comfortably on the road with its soft suspension, and meant for a leisure drive, not for an enthusiastic driver of course. Fuel consumption is decent, the build quality is good and sturdy, and of course the design is not faded with time. Overall Im satisfied to spend my money on this car, it has a few downsides but it still has the ability to put a smile on your face while you are driving it. With above average fuel econony, European car handling, great safety features as well as good built quality.

Own this car almost 7 years model 2.0 premium spec Sunroof. Still operate very well, still appreciate this car. Doesn't give me to much Own this car almost 7 years model 2.0 premium spec Sunroof. Doesn't give me to much problem if you are well maintained and on time car service. Eventhough its a under rated for the after market value. Yet this car is a totally good car for me. Its totally value for money. Looking forward to own other kia model. Maybe if got extra cash can look forward on kia stinger gt. Please try again later. Failed to process request.
